Office Policies for Mediation Preparation

Mediation prep is intended to assist a person with how they express their thoughts and feelings to a custody mediator/evaluator. Often times significant anxiety and stress can be associated with participating in a 3111 Evaluation or Private Child Custody Recommending Counseling process. Concerns will be identified and discussed. Anticipated expressed concerns the other parent might bring up in the custody process will also be assessed and addressed.

Participating in Mediation Prep is not a guarantee as to the outcome of your custody process. The number of sessions a person might want to schedule to prepare for their specific situation can vary. At least two sessions are recommended. The first session we will review your case, the second session we will review the homework that you accomplished as a result of the first session. Often time, especially for longer 3111 Evaluation, a parent will choose to meet for preparation sessions several times during their evaluation process.

Cost: each session is 50 minutes; the cost is $210.00 per session. I meet with clients via Zoom.

There is a 48-hour cancellation policy, if a session is cancelled in less than 48 hours, the client is financially responsible for the session that was cancelled.

At no time will I receive a subpoena to provide information to the court or be deposed by an attorney. Mediation Prep is a confidential process and cannot be brought into the litigation proceedings.

I have reviewed and understand the information contained in this Office Policies and Procedures.
